FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

What's the difference between Nevada Public Radio and NPR?

NPR works in partnership with its member stations to produce, acquire, and distribute programming that meets the highest standards of public service in journalism and cultural expression. We are their partner in Nevada.

How is Nevada Public Radio funded?

Members, individuals and corporate support accounts for 90% of our annual funding. The other 10% comes from state and federal grants and other sources.

What are the technology needs?

Our last complete technology upgrade was implemented more than two decades ago, so you can imagine our needs were extensive and essential. We've made a list.

How long will this upgrade be viable?

For the next decade. And, with the Endowment Fund, we will be prepared for ongoing and necessary infrastructure updates in perpetuity.

Do these funds support a particular political position?

No. Nevada Public Radio and NPR have no agenda other than fact based, independent, rigorous journalism.
